About the survey

Government budget decisions – what taxes to levy, what services to provide, and how much debt to take on – have important consequences for all people in society. When governments provide information and meaningful channels for the public to engage in these decisions, we can better ensure public money is spent on public interests.

The Open Budget Survey (OBS) is the world’s only independent, comparative and fact-based research instrument that uses internationally accepted criteria to assess public access to central government budget information; formal opportunities for the public to participate in the national budget process; and the role of budget oversight institutions, such as legislatures and national audit offices, in the budget process.

The survey helps local civil society assess and confer with their government on the reporting and use of public funds. This 9th edition of the OBS covers 125 countries.

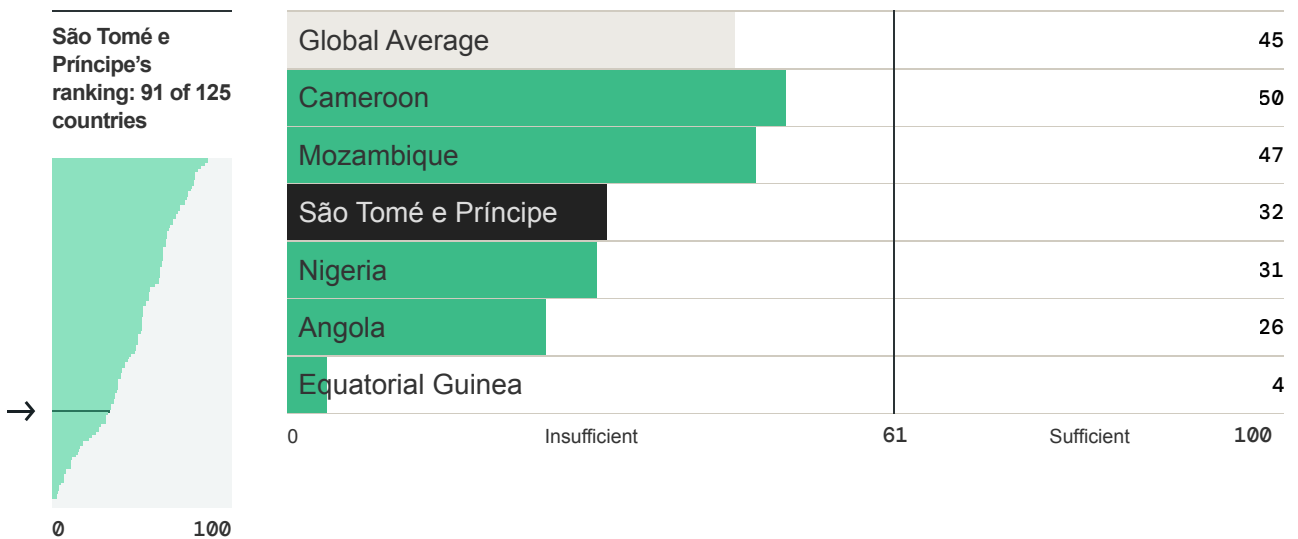

Visit www.internationalbudget.org/open-budget-survey for more information, including the full OBS methodology, the 2023 Global Report, findings for all surveyed countries, and the Data Explorer.

Transparency

This part of the OBS measures public access to information on how the central government raises and spends public resources. It assesses the online availability, timeliness, and comprehensiveness of eight key budget documents using 109 equally weighted indicators and scores each country on a scale of 0 to 100. A transparency score of 61 or above indicates a country is likely publishing enough material to support informed public debate on the budget.

São Tomé e Príncipe has a transparency score of 32 (out of 100).

São Tomé e Príncipe's transparency score of 32 in the OBS 2023 is near its score in 2021.

What changed in OBS 2023?

São Tomé e Príncipe has increased the availability of budget information by:

- Publishing the Citizens Budget online.
- Increasing the information provided in the Executive's Budget Proposal.

However, São Tomé e Príncipe has decreased the availability of budget information by:

- Failing to publish the In-Year Reports online in a timely manner.

Recommendations

São Tomé e Príncipe should prioritize the following actions to improve budget transparency:

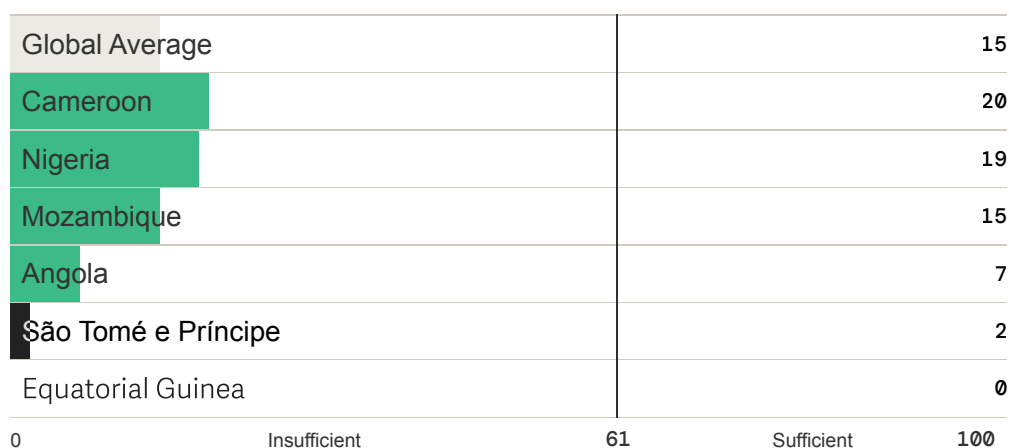

- Publish the In-Year Reports online in a timely manner.
- Produce and publish the Pre-Budget Statement, Mid-Year Review, Year-End Report and Audit Report online in a timely manner.
- Include in the Executive's Budget Proposal information regarding: new policy proposals; multi-year estimates for individual programs; extra-budgetary funds; future liabilities; and tax expenditures, among other financial, performance, and policy information.
- Expand on the participatory nature of the Citizens Budget, for example by identifying the public's requirements for budget information prior to the release of the document; incorporating information about the main policy initiatives in the budget; disseminating it via additional methods, and publishing simplified budget documents covering the approval, execution, and audit phases of the budget cycle.

Public Participation

The OBS assesses the formal opportunities offered to the public for meaningful participation in the different stages of the budget process. It examines the practices of the central government’s executive, the legislature, and the supreme audit institution (SAI) using 18 equally weighted indicators, aligned with the Global Initiative for Fiscal Transparency’s Principles of Public Participation in Fiscal Policies, and scores each country on a scale from 0 to 100.

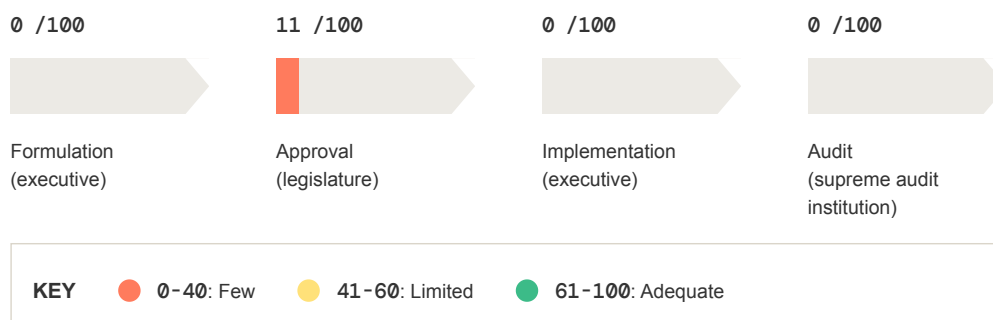

São Tomé e Príncipe has a public participation score of 2 (out of 100).

Extent of opportunities for public participation in the budget process

Recommendations

To further strengthen public participation in the budget process, São Tomé e Príncipe's Ministério do Planeamento, Finanças e Economia Azul should prioritize the following actions:

- Pilot mechanisms to engage the public during budget formulation and to monitor budget implementation.
- Actively engage with vulnerable and underrepresented communities, directly or through civil society organizations representing them. For instance, during budget formulation introduce a space for analysis and reflection with minority social groups such as associations representing people with disabilities and organizations focused on children, in order to incorporate more inclusive information and political initiatives into the budget.

São Tomé e Príncipe's Assembleia Nacional has established public hearings related to the approval of the annual budget, but should also prioritize the following actions:

- Allow any member of the public or any civil society organization to testify during its hearings on the budget proposal prior to its approval.
- Allow members of the public or civil society organizations to testify during its hearings on the Audit Report.

São Tomé e Príncipe's Tribunal de Contas should prioritize the following actions to improve public participation in the budget process:

- Establish formal mechanisms for the public to assist in developing its audit program and to contribute to relevant audit investigations.

Budget Oversight

The OBS examines the role that legislatures and supreme audit institutions (SAIs) play in the budget process and the extent to which they provide oversight; each country is scored on a scale from 0 to 100 based on 18 equally weighted indicators. In addition, the survey collects supplementary information on independent fiscal institutions (see Box).

The legislature and supreme audit institution in São Tomé e Príncipe, together, provide limited oversight during the budget process, with a composite oversight score of 46 (out of 100). Taken individually, the extent of each institution's oversight is shown below:

Recommendations

São Tomé e Príncipe's Assembleia Nacional provides limited oversight during the planning stage of the budget cycle and weak oversight during the implementation stage. To improve oversight, the following actions should be prioritized:

- The legislature should debate budget policy before the Executive's Budget Proposal is tabled and approve recommendations for the upcoming budget.
- The Executive's Budget Proposal should be submitted to legislators at least two months before the start of the budget year.
- A legislative committee should examine in-year budget implementation and publish reports with their findings online.

- In practice, ensure the legislature is consulted before the executive shifts funds specified in the Enacted Budget between administrative units or reduces spending due to revenue shortfalls during the budget year.
- Organize a session to present the Year-End Report and the Audit Report in the Assembleia Nacional, in order to ensure monitoring and boost the budget cycle with feedback.
- A legislative committee should examine the Audit Report and publish a report with their findings online.

To strengthen independence and improve audit oversight by the São Tomé e Príncipe Tribunal de Contas, the following actions are recommended:

- Ensure the supreme audit institution has adequate funding to perform its duties, as determined by an independent body (e.g., the legislature or judiciary).
- Ensure audit processes are reviewed by an independent agency.

The emerging practice of establishing independent fiscal institutions

São Tomé e Príncipe does not have an independent fiscal institution (IFI). IFIs are increasingly recognized as valuable independent and nonpartisan information providers to the Executive and/or Parliament during the budget process.

Methodology

- Only documents published and events, activities, or developments that took place through 31 December 2022 were assessed in the OBS 2023.
- The survey is based on a questionnaire completed in each country by an independent budget expert:
