Section Two: The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Notes on abbreviations:
BY = budget year (year for which the budget proposals are being made)
BY+1 = one year beyond the budget year
BY-1 = one year before the budget year

Note 1: The Open Budget Survey research process was carried out over a 12-month period and the final version of the Open Budget Questionnaires reflect decisions made after multiple rounds of discussions between Survey researchers, peer reviewers, and the International Budget Partnership (IBP) (in several countries these decisions also considered comments received from governments). When peer reviewers or governments agreed with the answers provided by researchers, they often provided no comment. Thus for many questions, the section in the questionnaire that should contain peer reviewer comments is left blank. However, if the government did not provide any comments to a question (because it did not dispute the answer), the section within the questionnaire that is meant to reflect government comments specifies the answer that the government agreed with (by default).

Since the IBP continued its discussions with the researchers even after receiving peer reviewer and government comments, for some questions these discussions resulted in a mutual decision to change the answers, even if the peer reviewers and governments agreed with the original answer provided by the researcher. Such changes may have happened as a result of:

1. A more consistent application of the Survey methodology;
2. New information identified by the researcher or by IBP that had a bearing on the answer for a particular question; or
3. Decisions made to ensure cross-country comparability of answers.

For more information on these changes for any question please write to info@internationalbudget.org.
The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond

1. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)?

   a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit.
   b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately.
   c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but a significant number of units are not shown separately.
   d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:

The executive’s budget is classified by ministry and administrative unit (Law of Financial Administration and Publics Budgets). Budgets that are approved by the Comptroller General of the Republic without any legislative action, which represent approximately 2/3 of total public spending, are NOT included. In addition, autonomous institution’s budgets (not included in the executive bill) are higher than executive’s bill. This situation is very uncommon in comparison with other countries.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

The budget submitted by the executive is indeed broken down by Ministry and other institutions, such as the Legislative Assembly, the Judiciary, the General Comptroller’s Office of the Republic (Contraloria General de la República) and others. In examining links to budget information, we find that the Executive’s Budget Proposal was submitted by the Ministry of the Treasury to the Legislative Assembly and it is the duty of the latter to approve it; you can find in that reference material the decisions made by the “Treasury and Budget Committee of the legislature.” Autonomous institutions submit their budget for approval to the General Comptroller’s Office of the Republic (Contraloria General de la República) and all of these budgets together are larger than the budget approved by the Legislative Assembly.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
2. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by functional classification?

a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function.
d. No expenditures classified by function are presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Expenditures are classified by general services, community services, economic services and financial services.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The information and comments are correct.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The following website would be a more appropriate source of information.

3. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by economic classification?

a. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
b. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by economic classification.
d. No expenditures classified by economic classification are presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Expenditures are classified by economic classification.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The Executive’s Budget Proposal is indeed organized by economic classification.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
4. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year?

   a. Program-level data are presented for all expenditures.
   b. Program-level data are presented for at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
   c. Program-level data are presented, but for less than two-thirds of expenditures.
   d. No program-level data are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation: [link]

Comment:
This is addressed in the Law of Financial Administration and Publics Budgets Rule (article 32).

Peer Reviewer One Comment: On this point, expenditures for individual programs that are part of the executive structure are presented and, additionally, the different ministries and administrative units have their own programs in their internal structure.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

5. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented.
   b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented.
   c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation: [link] (Section: “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose))

Comment:
The “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose) document includes an aggregate forecast of the revenues and expenses based on three different set of assumptions.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
6. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.
   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation: https://www.hacienda.go.cr/Msib21/Espanol/Direccion+General+de+Presupuesto+Nacional/proypres2009.htm#proyecto

Comment:
The 2009 Executive’s Budget Proposal includes the actual expenditures for 2008, and the authorized for 2009. Since 2009, there are aggregate level estimates of expenditure for a multi-year period beyond the budget year (2010, 2011 and 2012). This information was not available during the previous research (2008). Since 2008, the Ministry of Hacienda has presented more detailed information and it is available on the website.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
7. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of tax revenue amounting to less than two-thirds of all tax revenues are identified individually.
   d. No sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment: The different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) are included in the 2009 executive budget project.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: It must be stressed that in the supporting document titled “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose), charts comparing performance of the different taxes and revenue included in the budget revenue plan are used as support. For the 2010 Executive’s Budget Proposal, it was noted that the sources of fiscal revenue were not enough to cover the budget.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

8. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of non-tax revenue (such as grants, property income, and sales of goods and services) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of non-tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of non-tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, non-tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of non-tax revenues amounting to less than two-thirds of all non-tax revenue are identified individually.
   d. No sources of non-tax revenues are identified individually.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment: The different sources of non-tax revenue (such as grants, property income, and sales of goods and services) are included in the executive’s budget proposal.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The response is appropriate and can be verified in the document “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose).

Comment:
There are the ordinary and extraordinary sources of revenues; however, multiyear estimates are not presented. Only the same year sources of revenue are present. On the Ministry of Hacienda’s website, there are available multiyear estimates of expenditures, but not multi-year estimates of revenues. The “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose) contains only global multi-year estimates of revenues; it does not contain more detail by level.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The response is appropriate based on the source of information that was used. Multi-year projected revenue is for tax and non-tax revenue without providing further individual detail of the make-up of each item of revenue obtained by the government from taxpayers. This is shown in the document “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose) beginning on page 36.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
11. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present data on the total government debt outstanding for the budget year?

   a. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt both at the start of the budget year and at the end of the budget year (and thereby reflect the net borrowing requirement of the budget).
   b. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the end of the budget year.
   c. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the start of the budget year.
   d. No, data on the outstanding debt are not presented.

12. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present interest payments on the debt for the budget year?

13. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year?

a. Yes, extensive information related to the composition of government debt is presented.
b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, additional information related to the composition of government debt is not presented.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Actually the information presented does not include what is required to verify details of debt that is being serviced.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
14. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present the macroeconomic forecast upon which the budget projections are based?

   a. Yes, an extensive discussion of the macroeconomic forecast is presented, and key assumptions (such as inflation, real GDP growth, unemployment rate, and interest rates) are stated explicitly.
   b. Yes, the macroeconomic forecast is discussed and most of the key assumptions are stated explicitly, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, there is some discussion of the macroeconomic forecast (and/or the presentation of key assumptions), but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information related to the macroeconomic forecast is not presented.

Comment:
The law requires the presentation of macroeconomic indicators for the budget year, such as the inflation rate, interest rates on bonds of the foreign debt, semiannual salary increases, real GDP growth, average exchange rate, devaluation rate, export growth rate, etc. These are calculated by the Central Bank, and they are analyzed on the “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose).

Peer Reviewer One Comment: All of this information can be verified in the Executive’s Budget Proposal.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

15. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation show the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions (i.e., sensitivity analysis) on the budget (including expenditures, revenues, and debt)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information on the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Some of the information is presented on the “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose), but only a sample. It is not exhaustive by levels or institutions.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: First, you could say that general expenditure policy is not expressly defined very well in the document even though one could assume that it must be in place to prepare the budget. With regard to the policy of the different executive offices, there is no indication at all.

Comment:
The executive's budget proposal includes general expenditures classified by administrative unit for BY-1. However, not all departments or dependencies of each institution are included. Some of the information is presented in the “Exposición de Motivos” (Statement of Purpose), but only a sample; it is not exhaustive by levels, institutions or administrative unit.

Researcher Response to this Question was “b”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: The information for this question is in annex 10, in aggregate form and reported separately for each administrative unit considered separately in each document. Note that the information for question 21, regarding programs, can only be found in each administrative unit considered separately for both BY and BY-1 in aggregate terms (does not break each program down). This aggregate warrants an “a” answer (we do not ask for comparability throughout) but we need to consider that information for each program is not aggregated separately, which means there is no way to compare the program information for BY with that of BY-1 as they are broken down into 20 some documents. To compare programs, the researcher would have to go into each agency document, and add it up. The answer is “a” but we need to keep in mind no aggregate info by program is available.
19. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1) that are classified by functional classification?

   a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification for BY-1, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification for BY-1, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function for BY-1.
   d. No expenditures classified by function are presented for BY-1.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
The executive’s budget proposal includes general abstracts about expenditures that are classified by functional classification for each institution for BY-1.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: This response was corroborated in the documentary information that was examined.

22. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, how many months of actual data are reflected in the expenditure estimates of the year prior to the budget year (BY-1)?

a. All BY-1 estimates have been updated from the original enacted levels to reflect six or more months of actual expenditure.
b. All BY-1 estimates have been updated from the original enacted levels, but reflect less than six months of actual expenditure.
c. Some BY-1 estimates have been updated from the original enacted levels to reflect actual expenditure.
d. The BY-1 estimates have not been updated from the original enacted levels, or no BY-1 estimates are presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
BY-1 refers to the approved budget from the previous year and is not updated. There is not actual expenditure comparison of the year prior to the budget year BY-1. Comparisons are made between budget approved and executive budget proposal.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: This response is appropriate. However, it could be that in this proposal there are no estimates or there are no data, but in subsequent reports, there were updates but not necessarily in the Executive’s Budget Proposal.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

23. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for years that precede the budget year by more than one year (that is, BY-2 and prior years)?

a. Yes, such prior-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented.
b. No, such prior-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented.
c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

24. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover years preceding the budget year by more than one year (that is, BY-2 and prior years)?

a. Yes, such prior-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
b. Yes, such prior-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
c. Yes, such prior-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.

27. Does the executive's budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1)?

a. All tax revenues are identified individually for BY-1.
b. Tax revenues amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, tax revenue for BY-1 are identified individually.
c. Tax revenues amounting to less than two-thirds of all tax revenues for BY-1 are identified individually.
d. No tax revenues are identified individually for BY-1.

Comment: Information varies every year. For instance, the 2007 executive’s budget proposal includes comparative tables of actual revenues for three years prior.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Regarding the 2009 budget under discussion here, the appropriate response would be “A,” since you can clearly see in the executive’s budget proposal cited above that a comparison is drawn to 2007 and 2008, in the ‘exposición de motivos’ (statement of purpose) there is an analysis of prior years. I agree that in 2007 the three preceding years were taken into account but that is not relevant to the question.

Comment:

The information is presented but it lacks important details, especially information about the pension system. The Costa Rican Social Security Board handles the pension system, but the central government is responsible for these future liabilities. In fact, pension funds are one of the most important budget expenditures.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The Executive’s Budget Proposal includes mandatory Social Security payment amounts to pension plans; the Executive’s Budget Proposal also includes prior liabilities from the different existing pension systems. We must add that information on forecasts of how many more people will be coming into the pensions system is inadequate.

Comment:
There are the ordinary and extraordinary sources of revenues, however, multiyear estimates are not presented. They are only present for the same year. On the Ministry of Hacienda’s website, multi-year expenditure estimates are available, but not multiyear estimates of revenues. The “Exposición de motivos” (Statement of Purpose) contains only general multiyear estimates of revenues; it does not contain more detail by level.

Researcher Response to this Question was “b”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” After reviewing the https://www.hacienda.go.cr/NR/rdonlyres/11905F6A-364F-4319-8D33-4F4D67B24D98/20457/Ingresos.pdf file, it is my opinion that none of the expected revenues are earmarked since none of the different budget lines goes to a specific project. The new tax on luxury homes and the CONAVI tax on fuels are examples of earmarked revenues, but none of them are disclosed as such.

Researcher Response: I chose to keep my answer “b.” Examples: Law 8114: Tax Simplification and Efficiency establishes in Article 5: “Use of resources. Thirty percent (30%) of annual proceeds from collection of the single tax on fuel shall be used for the National Highway Council (CONAVI), 3.5% exclusively for payment of environmental services to the National Fund of Forestry Financing (Fonafifo); and .1% for payment of farming/cattle raising environmental benefits to the MAG (Ministry of Agriculture) for financing organic agricultural production, as provided by the regulations of the specific law. The use of this 33.6% [total] shall be of a specific nature and its transfer shall be mandatory for the Ministry of the Treasury.”

Law 7972: Tax on Cigarettes and Liquor for the Social Protection plan establishes the creation of taxes on liquor, beer and cigarettes to finance a integrated protection plan and aid for the elderly adults, at risk child population, abandoned persons with disabilities, alcoholics and drug abuser rehabilitation, support for the efforts of the Red Cross, and suspension of minor taxes on farming and its consequent substitution

Peer Reviewer One Comment: On page 4 of the “exposición de motivos” (statement of purpose), it mentions that the budget shall be linked to institutional operational and strategic, national, short and medium term planning. However, this relationship cannot be verified in the presentation of the budget document included in the referenced links that were used for the research. A personal comment is that perhaps one of the shortcomings of Costa Rican public administration is the lack of strategic planning.

c. The non-financial data are somewhat useful for assessing program performance.
d. No non-financial data are provided or they are not useful for assessing program performance.

Comment:
Public institutions in Costa Rica do not have appropriate mechanisms to verify for the quality of non-financial data according to Annual Yearbook of the Comptroller General of the Republic. Therefore it is impossible to evaluate program performance.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The response is appropriate since the researcher would have to thoroughly scour each institution to determine whether there are non-financial data available, which would make the research too extensive.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Comment:

The Yearly Report of the Office of the Comptroller General of the Republic released in 2009 establishes that: “It has been determined that evaluation reports prepared by the Ministry of Planning and Economic Policy, as well as by the central unit that manages the plan or program, does not make it possible to learn the outcomes attained, since they only refer to percentage of executed actions that is reported by the institutions. Nor is the information verified in the field and the evaluations are biased towards the output indicators and executed resources indicators, usually with limitations on their geographic disaggregation (...) it was determined that the goals are frequently designed with deficiencies, since they do not clearly define what they encompass, they do not quantify what is supposed to be achieved nor during what period of time, nor are minimum standards set; additionally, routine operational actions are included among the goals, all of which makes follow-up or tracking and evaluation difficult.”

Researcher Response to this Question was “d”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: I agree with the response.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” There has been an effort by the budgetary entity to incorporate some performance indicators. Despite that this indicators are designed and aligned with some of the specific plans and there is some information about how to collect the data, their design is primitive and most of them are not communicated to the public, either before or after the budgetary period.

Researcher Response:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d”, to maintain consistency with the guidance provided to researchers for correctly completing the questionnaire in the Guide to the Open Budget Questionnaire.
54. Are performance indicators used in conjunction with performance targets presented in the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation?

a. All performance indicators are used in conjunction with performance targets.
b. Most performance indicators are used in conjunction with performance targets.
c. Some performance indicators are used in conjunction with performance targets, but most are not.
d. No performance indicators are used in conjunction with performance targets.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
According to the 2007 Annual Yearbook of the General Comptroller’s Office of the Republic, public institutions in Costa Rica do not have incorporated performance indicators in the process of evaluation or institutional planning. Some programs of the executive’s budget contains some performance indicators, however they are not well designed.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: According to the response, an exhaustive analysis would have had be conducted of each institution in order to determine the internal use of performance indicators. I personally know of some institutions that do use performance indicators, but it is definitely very few that do. We should add that there is the SINE [National Evaluation System], which is in charge of presenting and supporting the evaluation with performance indicators, but the task is not carried out adequately.

Comment:

Researcher Response to this Question was “c”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: There is some information in the different institutions of the social sector, but it is very spread out throughout the entire Executive’s Budget Proposal and does not provide detailed information on the possible benefits to the most impoverished population. However, the IMAS – Mixed Social Assistance Institute is the public institution that manages more clearly and directly benefits aimed at the poor.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” After reviewing the ‘statement of purpose’ [exposicion de motivos] document, page 27-28 “The amounts allocated to the health sector shall undergo an increase of 37.6%, which takes into account the resources required to finance the creation of 569 new positions of which 350 will belong to the Program Directorate and Health Promotion and Outreach. The remaining 219 positions were approved for the Provision of Health Services program, specifically for the Nutrition and Child Development Centers (CEN-CINAI), which are needed to increase coverage of nourishment, nutrition and integrated care services to the impoverished population or those located in vulnerable areas or who are at-risk” or “Through the Ministry of Labor and Social Security, resources are targeted to finance the pensions of disadvantaged elderly adults who are not covered by other systems in the amount of ¢46.79 billion Costa Rican Colon.

Researcher Response: I choose to keep my answer “c.” The fact that information is spread out is a reflection of the lack of coordination of the institutional sector devoted to fighting poverty. In this regard, the General Comptroller's Office of the Republic has stressed that “selective social institutions and programs (for care of the most vulnerable sectors of the population) constitute a broad and diverse group that administers a significant volume of resources and all together do meet a functional criterion, as do the ministries’ portfolios; however, the criteria of poverty, vulnerability and social exclusion cut across each of the functions of the State. Therefore and based on the premise that policies in that area must be stable and permeate the entire institutional structure of the country, it is considered important that the very identity of this group of institutions and the programs be recognized by the legislature; they must cease to be connected to a sectoral classification of the State, they must be detached from the portfolio of Labor and Social Security and become linked to a crosscutting ministerial portfolio, as a support structure to the managing office of the sector.

It is also essential that the Ministry of Planning and Economic Policy, in asserting its authority over national, regional and sectoral planning, coordination and evaluation, promotes this crosscutting approach to policies for overcoming poverty, vulnerability and social exclusion, which, as was stated earlier, must be introduced into the long term National Development Policy. An alternative to the crosscutting ministry is the creation of a ministry of social development, as has been done in a significant number of countries, with clear specification of its purview and functions, sources of funding, mechanisms of horizontal management and information systems, so that it has the capacity to advocate for a set of policies for each branch or sector of the government, and make sure that other sectors and entities do not tend to ignore those populations and their problems.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “c” to maintain the consistency of the data across the countries.

Legislative committees report regularly on activities during the budget process; these reports can be accessed by Internet. Reports include press bulletins reporting the legislative committees’ activities. The citizens also can check on the web the minutes of every session that these committees celebrate.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The response is appropriate. These reports summarize the decisions made during the committee sessions where the budget is examined.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: If we take into account that the Ministry of the Treasury produces comparative reports of actual revenue and that these reports are freely accessible to the public, the appropriate response would be “a.” However, these reports lack narrative explanation of outcomes and the effects thereof on total revenue collection and programmed revenue.

Researcher Response to this Question was “d”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Adequate response.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” On the Ministerio de Hacienda website, https://www.hacienda.go.cr/Msib21/Espanol/Tesoreria+Nacional/SaldoDeudaPublicaCostarricense.htm, the Ministry objective is to report on the monthly balance of public debt, both internal and external. Some information is available on a monthly basis but it seems to be incomplete.

Researcher Response: I chose my answer “d” because the reports released by the Executive (only) on the Hacienda Ministry Website do not contain any qualitative information or explanation, and are not actualized enough, example: the last report is about May 2009.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
90. Do in-year reports released to the public on actual borrowing present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, and currency denomination of the debt) for the budget year?

b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details.

There is a report called “Annual Report of Budgetary Assessment” https://www.hacienda.go.cr/Msib21/Espanol/Direccion+General+de+Presupuesto+Nacional/infoanualeval2008.htm, only for central government institutions (it does not include autonomous institutions). This document does not conform to international standards, as it does not incorporate the macroeconomic outlook, new expenditure estimations or indicators of government spending. Furthermore, it is important to note that the budgetary process in Costa Rica is very unique. Congress approves only about one-third of overall expenditure and the General Comptroller’s Office the other two-thirds. Most of the documents released by the executive during the year are partial because they refer only to central government spending, which represents the one-third approved by the legislature. The rest of the government spending is not reported in this way.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: We can clarify that autonomous institutions are, for example A y A (the water and sewer authority), ICE (Costa Rican Electricity Institute), etc. Their budget does not have to be approved by the Legislative Assembly, rather just by the General Comptroller’s Office. Therefore, there are institutions with very high budgets that are not released in the reports issued by the government and that can be accessed by internet.

96. Does the executive seek input from the legislature when the executive shifts funds between administrative units (except when the amounts are below a certain minimal level specified in law or regulation)?

a. Yes, the executive seeks approval from the legislature before shifting funds between administrative units.

b. Yes, the executive gives prior notification to the legislature before shifting funds, giving the legislature an opportunity to block or modify the proposed adjustment.

c. Yes, the executive seeks legislative approval, but only after the shift of funds has been implemented.

d. No, the executive shifts funds between administrative units without seeking input from the legislature, or the amount allowed under the law or by regulation is significantly large enough to undermine public scrutiny and accountability (please describe arrangements below).

e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
The executive shifts funds between administrative units without seeking input from the legislature. Also, parliament shifts funds between public institutions. The legislature has authority in Political Constitution (article 179) to amend the budget, with some limitations like the restriction of approving expenditures without source of funds. The General Comptroller’s Office is obligated to exercise financial control over these cases.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: These shifts are carried out keeping the source of the resources as it is, because there are specific application earmarked resources for some administrative unit.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
97. During the past year, have there been credible reported instances in which the procurement of goods and services has not followed an open and competitive process in practice?

a. There were no credible reported instances of procurement failing to follow an open and competitive process in practice during the past year.
b. The procurement of goods and services frequently followed an open and competitive process in practice, but there were some reported instances of irregularities.
c. The procurement of goods and service followed an open and competitive process in many instances, but there were significant reported examples of irregularities.
d. No, the procurement process was not open and competitive in practice.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Significant examples of irregularities were reported by the national comptroller in some public institutions like the Costa Rica Institute of Electricity, Social Security Institute or Rural Development Institute. Some of them are still under judicial investigation right now. See www.cgr.go.cr

Peer Reviewer One Comment: These cases may be from several years prior to 2009, and are still under investigation as of this date and there may be cases in the complaint filing stage.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

98. When does the legislature typically approve supplemental budgets?

a. Supplemental budgets are approved before the funds are expended, or the executive rarely proposes a supplemental budget (please specify).
b. Supplemental budgets are approved after the funds are expended, or the executive implements supplemental budgets without ever receiving approval from the legislature (please specify).
c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Supplemental budgets (or extraordinary budgets) are approved before the funds are expended. The General Comptroller’s Office is obligated to exercise financial control over these cases.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: This is required by law and also expenditures without prior approval of legislators could have legal consequences.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
99. In most years, how large are supplemental budget requests relative to the size of the original budget?

- a. Supplemental budgets are generally equal to 2 percent or less of the original budget.
- b. Supplemental budgets are generally equal to more than 2 percent, but less than 5 percent, of the original budget.
- c. Supplemental budget are generally equal to more than 5 percent, but less than 10 percent, of the original budget.
- d. Supplemental budget are generally equal to 10 percent or more of the original budget, or insufficient information is available to the public regarding the amount of supplemental budgets.
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
It is difficult to give a percentage, even an estimated one because the supplemental budget requests vary greatly. Some do not even reach 1% while others go over 10%.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The response is appropriate. The amount of supplemental budgets of the Republic depends on supplemental revenue that comes into the government either as its own revenue, international loans, debt or other financing sources.

According to the General Comptroller’s Office of the Republic “it is impossible to evaluate if the institutions had been efficient because they do not have appropriate indicators.” However, since 2008 the Ministry of Finances have implemented a new methodology to improve the analysis of the outcome, but it still lacks important details.

Comment:
The General Comptroller's Office of the Republic makes liquidation for the entire outflows and inflows of the government, and the reports are released to the public, however, the General Comptroller's Office only makes an audit of a sample of public institutions, usually it focuses on the institutions that have the highest expenditures and some with intermediate expenditure levels.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: In addition to the audit of the Office of the General Comptroller's Office of the Republic, each institution has its own internal audit that is a support to the comptroller and is supposed to examine detailed points of the balance sheets of the different administrative units.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Many audits are triggered by citizen complaints.

120. Does a committee of the legislature view and scrutinize the audit reports?

- a. Yes, all audit reports are scrutinized.
- b. Yes, most audit reports are scrutinized.
- c. Yes, some audit reports are scrutinized.
- d. No, audit reports are not scrutinized.
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Legislators received audit reports on time. But they are not scrutinizing them in an appropriate way. For instance, the last five audit reports have not been approved by the committee. In some opportunities the Legislative Assembly makes a political debate, but no more than this.

Researcher Response to this Question was “d”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: This answer is right; however other action can be taken without the need for legislators to approve it, such as a criminal complaint.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Despite of these reports being scrutinized by the budget committee of the legislature, the use of these revisions has been more political than financial in nature. So, the validity of the scrutiny comes into question given the political agenda of the members of the scrutinizing entity.

Researcher Response: I chose my answer “d” because audit reports are used by legislators as a major source of technical data to develop strategies on issues of political control, however, they usually do not examine the audit reports.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d” to maintain consistency with the guidance provided to researchers for correctly completing the questionnaire in the Guide to the Open Budget Questionnaire.
121. Does the executive make available to the public a report on what steps it has taken to address audit recommendations or findings that indicate a need for remedial action?

- a. Yes, the executive reports publicly on what steps it has taken to address audit findings.
- b. Yes, the executive reports publicly on most audit findings.
- c. Yes, the executive reports publicly on some audit findings.
- d. No, the executive does not report on steps it has taken to address audit findings.

Comment:
Sometimes the executive reports publicly on some audit findings, particularly when the audit has detected some case of corruption or serious mistakes in the management of the public administration.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: There have been large-scale investigations of corruption cases, which have ended up in courts of law, and there have been other investigations of corruption on the public expenditure oversight committee of the Legislative Assembly.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: I would agree on the “c”, but again, the political agenda of the members of the finance committee could compromise the implementation of some of the recommendations.

122. Does either the Supreme Audit Institution or the legislature release to the public a report that tracks actions taken by the executive to address audit recommendations?

- a. Yes, a comprehensive report is released regularly that tracks actions taken by the executive to address audit recommendations.
- b. Yes, a report is released, covering key audit recommendations, but some details are excluded.
- c. Yes, a report is released, but it lacks important details.
- d. No, a report is not produced or it is prepared for internal purposes only (please specify).
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

No, a report is not produced, however when the audit has detected some case of corruption or serious mistakes in the management of the public administration the media or the citizens try to push until the authorities make publish that information.
