Comment:
There is no information that shows how policy proposals in the budget affect expenditures. However, a lot of information on new policies and their effects on expenditures are presented in the citizen's budget (Proračun 2007. godine: Za ravnomjerniji razvoj Hrvatske).

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Brief comments are sufficient for understanding key expenditures also generated from pre-budget and supporting documents

Researcher Response: I still hold that that the information shown is rudimentary and cannot be described as explanation of policy proposals. The executive should consider inclusion of the content present in the citizen’s budget into the main budget document.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
17. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year that shows how policy proposals in the budget, as distinct from existing policies, affect revenues?

Citation:

Comment:
No changes in the tax system were planned for 2007. Expected changes in revenues are therefore explained only in context of macroeconomic developments. However, comprehensiveness of this report is similar to the one from 2004. This suggests that, if changes in revenue system did occur, the response would be (c). In that case, a researcher would make a reassessment. [Note that the answer to the same question in the 2006 round was “d.”]

24. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover years preceding the budget year by more than one year (that is, BY-2 and prior years)?

a. Yes, such prior-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
b. Yes, such prior-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
c. Yes, such prior-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.
d. No, such prior-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

The Tax Administration maintains a website that provides updated information on changes in the tax system to the public as well as the documents required by taxpayers to fulfill their obligations. A change in response from the OBI 2006 is led by the researcher's reassessment.

Researcher's Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” There is a lack of information regarding involvement of private sector in different projects.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: We agree with the Peer Reviewer about a lack of such information. Example: fees and prices of concessions and franchises, and their overview. A more appropriate answer would be “b.”
57. Does the executive make available to the public an analysis of the distribution of the tax burden?

   a. Yes, a detailed analysis of the distribution of the tax burden is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, an analysis is presented, highlighting key aspects of the distribution, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some analysis is presented, but it lacks important details.

Comment:
Available documents on Ministry of Finance web page are: Letter of Intent, Country Assistance Strategy, EBRD Strategy, collection of international financial contracts (EBRD, European Investment Bank, IMF, IBRD, Council of Europe Development Bank). However, specific details (e.g. on World Bank's Programmatic Adjustment Loan or on projects assisted by the World Bank in Croatia), are not available on that web site, although they can be found on World Bank's web page. All international contracts are available in Narodne novine. When it comes to discussion of conditions, Ministry of Finance publishes on their web page news regarding financial help from IFIs, which includes comments on the fulfillment of conditions. However, further work needs to be done to link available information with macroeconomic conditionality and project specific conditionality. The response to this question is different than the one from the 2006 round of research. Researcher reassessment has led to a change in response.

 Peer Reviewer One Comment:

 Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
59. Does the executive make available to the public an explanation of the conditions associated with assistance from donor countries?

a. Yes, extensive information on conditions associated with donor country assistance is presented, including a narrative discussion and any quantitative targets related to both macro-economic conditionality and project-specific conditionality.
b. Yes, information is presented, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, information on conditions associated with donor country assistance is not presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
Based on Article 109 of the Stabilisation and Accession Agreement, Croatia has to form a database on all financial aid received from foreign sources. A special working group was founded in 2004, but the database is not yet available. However, the executive publishes all international agreements in the Narodne novine. The response to this question is different than the one from the 2006 round of research. Researcher reassessment has led to a change in response.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “b.” Some details are excluded, but not important ones. There is some progress on information availability.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
60. Does the executive make available to the public a summary that describes the budget and its proposals?

   a. Yes, it provides a summary that is very informative.
   b. Yes, it provides a summary that is somewhat informative.
   c. Yes, but the summary is not very informative.
   d. No, it does not provide a summary.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
Citizens have the right by the Budget law and the Right to Access Information law to access governmental and budgetary information. However, according to a survey done by Transparency International Croatia in 2005, where they have sent different queries to governmental bodies, half of the requested information could not be obtained.

64. Are citizens able in practice to obtain financial information on expenditures for individual programs in a format that is more highly disaggregated than that which appears in the executive’s budget proposal if they request it (for example, from a ministry or agency)?

   a. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for all programs except those considered related to national security or military intelligence.
   b. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for programs representing at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.

I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire, “a.” Improvement since the 2004 pre-budget statement (used in 2006 round of research) is the mid-term (multi-year) perspective. Explanations in this document are thorough, sometimes more so than in the main budget document itself.

Comment:

Legislature has to receive the budget before 15 November and this rule is respected in practice. The article from Banka proves that the legislature got the budget proposal exactly when it was supposed to be delivered. The parliament adjourns in two periods per year, and the second period is between 15 September and 15 December. This means that the legislature in practice has only one month to review the budget.

   Comment:
   Limitations are described in Article No. 31 of the Budget law. All amendments have to be aligned with the established size of the budget deficit. If the goal of an amendment is to increase budget expenditures above an amount stated in the budget proposal, then a decrease of expenditures for another budget item should be proposed at the same time. Proposals which seek an increase in expenditures must not require additional indebtedness.

There is no comparison made because the enacted budget does not show separate estimates for the first half of the year. However, there is a comparison made with expenditure estimates for the whole budget year. A change in response from the OBI 2006 is led by the researcher's reassessment.

Comment:
The document (B) is an in-year report that presents, in great detail, expenditures and revenues for the first half of the year. It contains a description of macroeconomic and fiscal developments during the year for the central budget and extra budgetary funds. It does not contain "updated revenue and expenditure estimates." When changes in macroeconomic and other assumptions occur, the document (A), Revised Budget, is published. The revisions of budget happen almost every year, typically in the middle of the year. This document, besides other important elements, does explain why changes occur, and also contains updated revenue and expenditure estimates, in great detail.

The document (A) is already used above as an in-year report, and the document (B) is a revised budget, and it cannot be treated as a mid-year review. Therefore, the response to this and the following three questions is "d."
The performance has not changed since the 2006 round of research.

Response to this question was given by Mrs. Čoh Mikulec who works as an assistant to the first Auditor General.

Comment:
The State Audit Office does not employ designated staff for auditing of the security sector.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
119. Does the Supreme Audit Institution maintain formal mechanisms of communication with the public to receive complaints and suggestions to assist it in determining its audit program (that is, to identify the agencies, programs, or projects it will audit)?

121. Does the executive make available to the public a report on what steps it has taken to address audit recommendations or findings that indicate a need for remedial action?

   a. Yes, the executive reports publicly on what steps it has taken to address audit findings.
   b. Yes, the executive reports publicly on most audit findings.
   c. Yes, the executive reports publicly on some audit findings.
   d. No, the executive does not report on steps it has taken to address audit findings.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Comment:
   According to our review of related web sites and documents, the executive does not report on steps it has taken to address audit findings.

   Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

   Peer Reviewer One Comment:

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Another source of information (riznica-prilog R. and F. – treasury – appendix of R and F magazine).

   Researcher Response:
   I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “d.” I chose my answer because I could not find the executive report in their official documents. Peer Reviewer mentions supplement "Riznica" to the magazine "Računovodstvo i financije" but not a specific issue. It is published monthly by Croatian Community of Accountants and Financial Employees (Hrvatska zajednica računovoda i financijskih djelatnika), not by a government body.

   IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
123. Are audit reports of the annual accounts of the security sector (military, police, intelligence services) and other secret programs provided to the legislature (or relevant committee)?

   a. Yes, legislators are provided with detailed audit reports related to the security sector and other secret programs.
b. Yes, legislators are provided audit reports on secret items, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, legislators are provided audit reports on secret items, but they lack important details.
d. No, legislators are not provided audit reports on secret items, or secret programs are not audited (please specify).
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

The response to this question was obtained from Mr. Pero Kovačević and Mr. Srećko Ferencak. Both of them were members of the Internal Affairs and National Security Committee in Croatian Parliament, and belonged to opposition parties when our query was made.

Comment:
Mr. Ferencak thought the appropriate answer was "c," and Mr. Kovačević chose "b."

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Special report separated from regular audit report classified and generated from closed session of the government and related services.

Researcher Response: I chose answer “c” because even if one of the two Committee members interviewed believes that important details are missing, then there is room for strong improvement. I could barely get answers from two Committee members; the other members did not reply at all.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
