Section Two: The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Notes on abbreviations:
BY = budget year (year for which the budget proposals are being made)
BY+1 = one year beyond the budget year
BY-1 = one year before the budget year

Note 1: The Open Budget Survey research process was carried out over a 12-month period and the final version of the Open Budget Questionnaires reflect decisions made after multiple rounds of discussions between Survey researchers, peer reviewers, and the International Budget Partnership (IBP) (in several countries these decisions also considered comments received from governments). When peer reviewers or governments agreed with the answers provided by researchers, they often provided no comment. Thus for many questions, the section in the questionnaire that should contain peer reviewer comments is left blank. However, if the government did not provide any comments to a question (because it did not dispute the answer), the section within the questionnaire that is meant to reflect government comments specifies the answer that the government agreed with (by default).

Since the IBP continued its discussions with the researchers even after receiving peer reviewer and government comments, for some questions these discussions resulted in a mutual decision to change the answers, even if the peer reviewers and governments agreed with the original answer provided by the researcher. Such changes may have happened as a result of:

1. A more consistent application of the Survey methodology;
2. New information identified by the researcher or by IBP that had a bearing on the answer for a particular question; or
3. Decisions made to ensure cross-country comparability of answers.

For more information on these changes for any question please write to info@internationalbudget.org.
The Executive’s Budget Proposal
Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond

1. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)?

   a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit.
   b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately.
   c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but a significant number of units are not shown separately.
   d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Citation:
   “Red Book-2” provides sufficient details on administrative units.

   Comment:

   Peer Reviewer One Comment:

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Although details are provided by administrative units, in many cases the expenses are lumped together under incidental heads and this information is not transparent. Generally owing to political pressure, particularly during the last months of the year, money is transferred from incidental heads and allocated to new programs.

2. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by functional classification?

   a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function.
   d. No expenditures classified by function are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Citation:
   “Red Book-2” provides sufficient details on administrative units.

   Comment:
   Presently classified expenditure gives enough information to bring it in line with GFS 2001 of IMF, yet it is not fully compatible with international standards.

   Peer Reviewer One Comment:

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
3. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by economic classification?

   a. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by economic classification.
   d. No expenditures classified by economic classification are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

4. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year?

   a. Program-level data are presented for all expenditures.
   b. Program-level data are presented for at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
   c. Program-level data are presented, but for less than two-thirds of expenditures.
   d. No program-level data are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
5. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented.
   b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented.
   c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
The Government of Nepal has started to present multi-year period expenditures to the parliament from 2009-10. It only presents the projection of expenditure.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

6. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.
   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

13. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year?

a. Yes, extensive information related to the composition of government debt is presented.

b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.

c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details.

d. No, additional information related to the composition of government debt is not presented.

e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:

Researcher Response to this Question was “d”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Government debt is classified as external and internal debt. But other information such as maturity profiles is not presented.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should be changed as suggested by Peer Reviewer One to “c.” I choose this answer because the Government budget is classified as external and internal debt. It is mentioned in the Red Book-2, Estimates of Expenditure for Fiscal Year 2009-10 (Report 31, Page 1-2), however it does not show maturity profile of debt.

According to the Red Book, debt has been classified in to two categories: repayment of domestic debt and repayment of foreign debt (bilateral and multilateral). The total repayment of domestic debt, including recurrent and capital and principal repayment is NRs. 14,169,113,000 while total repayment of foreign debt is 14,542,189,000 (this includes 11,329,756,000 as multilateral debt and 3,212,433,000).

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose response “c” as per the researcher’s comment.
14. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present the macroeconomic forecast upon which the budget projections are based?

   a. Yes, an extensive discussion of the macroeconomic forecast is presented, and key assumptions (such as inflation, real GDP growth, unemployment rate, and interest rates) are stated explicitly.
   b. Yes, the macroeconomic forecast is discussed and most of the key assumptions are stated explicitly, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, there is some discussion of the macroeconomic forecast (and/or the presentation of key assumptions), but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information related to the macroeconomic forecast is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

15. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation show the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions (i.e., sensitivity analysis) on the budget (including expenditures, revenues, and debt)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

   Comment:

   Researcher Response to this Question was “c”

   Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d” because there is reference to macroeconomic assumptions in the budget narrative but the analytical basis for these references is not provided.

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

   Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire. I choose this answer because the 2009-2010 budget speech shows the situation of macroeconomic fundamentals and assumptions. The budget speech has clearly mentioned that the GDP growth rate is likely to register at 3.8 per cent at basic price and 4.7 per cent at produces' price; annual average inflation is expected to surge by 13 per cent; export and import are expected to go up by 28.6 per cent and 12 percent respectively; revenue collection will stand at Rs. 142 billion 211.3 million-increased by 32.14 per cent and total expenditure will remain at RS 213 billion 578.3 million. This information is presented in the budget speech, page 2 under the heading if budget review and budget implementation of the current fiscal year.

   IBP Comment: IBP editors chose response “c” as per the researcher’s comment.

Researcher Response to this Question was “c”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b” as the Annual Program for the Fiscal Year 2007/8 published by the National Planning Commission contains information about non financial data, but does not contain adequate detail. This document is published and it is accessible to public.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: I suggest that the answer should be changed as suggested by the Peer Reviewer. I choose this answer because the Annual Program for the fiscal year 2009-10 published by the National Planning Commission) has established the link between proposed budget and government's stated policy.

The National Planning Commission (NPC) makes public two annual program books that incorporate program plans at the central and district levels. The programs in these publications are planned on the basis of the strategic pillars set by NPC's three year interim development plan (2007-2010). The major strategic pillars of this plan are governance, sustainable development, societal transformation, inclusive development, physical infrastructure and employment promotion. The government's budget is allocated on the basis of these strategic pillars, which reflect the government's stated policy. The budgetary allocation is detailed in the Red Book.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose response “b” as per the researcher’s response.
49. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation explain how the proposed budget is linked to government’s stated policy goals for a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   I chose this answer because even though the Ministry of Finance analyzes the tax burden this information is not made public. This analysis includes the burden of tax on industry, service and other sectors. It is not made public since tax burden is deemed to be negative so the government does not tend to make public this analysis.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The in-year reports cover almost all expenditures. However, there are problems with turn key projects funded by donors in which timely or detailed information regarding expenses is not presented. Generally, such projects remain outside the purview of the audit. This is a big problem in Nepal since for some years up to 35 percent of the development budget is not audited.

a. The in-year reports on actual expenditures organized by administrative unit contain program-level detail.
b. The in-year reports on actual expenditures organized by administrative unit contain departmental totals and some additional details (for instance, sub-department totals or major programs).
c. The in-year reports on actual expenditures organized by administrative unit contain only departmental totals.

Researcher Response to this Question was “a”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: “a” is not a correct response since sometimes there is a lag of almost two years.

Researcher Response: I choose this answer “b” because generally the final annual expenditures of national departments are audited by the Office of the Auditor General (OAG) one year or less after the end of the fiscal year. The OAG audits the annual expenditures of the national department within six months of the end of the fiscal year. The comment by peer reviewer that sometimes there is almost two-year gap is also correct. It was during the time of the direct rule of King in the history of Nepal in 2004-06. At the moment, the audited reports were released after two years of the fiscal year. It was due to the constitutional problem that prevailed during the King’s rule that the Auditor General was not appointed for a long time.

IBP Comment: Even though the OAG completes its audit within 6 months, it appears based on the researcher’s response that “b” is a more likely response to this question.
112. Two years after the completion of a fiscal year, what percentage of annual expenditures has been audited and (except for secret programs) the report(s) released to the public?

a. All expenditures have been audited and the reports released to the public.

c. Expenditure representing less than two-thirds of expenditure have been audited.
d. No expenditures have been audited, the reports have not been released to the public, or was released more than 24 months after the end of the fiscal year.

Researcher Response to this Question was “a”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: It is “b” because there is a problem of auditing the turn key projects.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should be changed as suggested by Peer Reviewer Two. I choose this answer because there is a problem of auditing turn key projects. The projects funded directly by the donors submit their reports to the government only for information not for audit. Since these funds constitute about one third of annual expenditures, they remain unaudited. Therefore only about two-third of the expenditures are audited and made available to public.

IBP Comment: The IBP editors chose response “b” as per the researcher’s response.
113. Does the annual audit report(s) that is released to the public include an executive summary?

Researcher Response to this Question was “e”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b” as the PAC has the authority to scrutinize the audit report.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Based on recommendations the Public Accounts Committee scrutinizes various cases, summons concerned authorities organizes hearings and recommends cases to the CIAA for further action. Though very limited, some cases have been recommended to the CIAA.

Researcher Response: I choose the answer “a” because:
There is a constitutional provision that the Auditor General shall submit to the President an annual report on the work the OAG has performed, and the President through the Prime Minister makes arrangements to submit such reports to the Legislature. The Parliament hands over all the audit reports to the Public Accounts Committee (PAC)-a parliamentary committee for the inspection and scrutiny. The Committee scrutinizes the reports and summons the concerned line ministry or units and thoroughly discusses regarding the arrears or irregularities if found. The Committee works on the basis of the provisions specified by Audit Act and its procedures and furnishes further recommendations or directives to resolve irregularities found during the scrutiny.
