Additional Key Information for Budget Analysis & Monitoring
Please note that the questions in this section ask about information that is generally available to the public. The information need not be included in the executive's budget proposal or supporting documents, but may be found in other documents issued by the executive.
56. Does the executive make available to the public a description of the tax rate or fee schedule for all revenue sources? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Yes, extensive information on tax rates and fee schedules is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the rates and fees for major revenue sources, but some details are excluded. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details. No, information is not presented. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation and/or comment: The researcher's response to this question was "b": Tax rates and fee schedules are available at the website of the General Administration of National Taxation (www.mta.mn), but the links to different revenue sources are not explicitly described. Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: Tax laws and regulations are available at http://www.mta.mn/index.php?cid=law&page=0, the various laws available on this page cover general rules about taxpayers and taxpayer-government authorities, personal income taxes (http://www.mta.mn/index.php?cid=law&page=4), company income taxes (http://www.mta.mn/index.php?cid=law&page=3, value added tax (VAT) (http://www.mta.mn/index.php?cid=law&page=6, excises, fees for hunting licenses, land and property fees, and the most recent tax law (a windfall tax on gold and copper) (http://www.mta.mn/index.php?cid=law&page=18). The full text of each law is given, including references to particular changes. The website also contains information on how to submit tax declarations online, and other tax administration services. So, judging by the current level of information, a rating of "b" would seem justified. Peer Reviewer TWO Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be "c." IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer "b" to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.	b

57. Does the executive make available to the public an analysis of the distribution of the tax burden? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. Yes, a detailed analysis of the distribution of the tax burden is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates. b. Yes, an analysis is presented, highlighting key aspects of the distribution, but some details are excluded. c. Yes, some analysis is presented, but it lacks important details. d. No analysis on the distribution of the tax burden is presented. e. 64. Do citizens have the right in law to access government information, including budget information? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. Yes, the right has been codified into law, and citizens are generally able in practice to obtain government information, including budget information. b. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is sometimes not possible for citizens in practice to obtain government information, including budget information. c. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is frequently or always impossible in practice to obtain access to government information, including budget information. d. The Constitutional article is rather restrictive. From Article 16, paragraph 17: “The right to seek and receive information except that which the state and its bodies are legally bound to protect as secret. In order to protect human rights, dignity, and reputation of persons and to ensure national defense, security, and public order, the information which is not subject to disclosure must be classified and protected by law.” Peer Reviewer TWO Comment: IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “c” to maintain consistency with the guidance provided to researchers for correctly completing the questionnaire in the Guide to the Open Budget Questionnaire. Section Three: The Budget Process

The Budget Process
Executive's Formulation of the Budget
67. How far in advance of the release of the budget is the day of its release known? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> The release date is set in permanent law. The executive announces the release date at least two months in advance. The executive announces the release date less than two months but more than two weeks in advance. The executive announces the release date two weeks or less before the release, or makes no announcement. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation and/or comment: See the Law on Public Sector Management and Financing. Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: Peer Reviewer TWO Comment:	a
68. Does the executive release to the public its timetable for its budget preparation process? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Yes, a detailed timetable is released to the public. Yes, a timetable is released, but some details are excluded. Yes, a timetable is released, but it lacks important details. No, a timetable is not issued to the public. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation and/or comment: From an interview with Ministry of Finance official; some dates for the timetable are set in the Law on Public Sector Management and Financing. Details of the timetable in the Public Sector Financing and Management Law are as follows: State organizations submit to the relevant ministers their strategic business plans by July 1st; Ministers submit to the Ministry of Finances the strategic business plans by August 1st; Ministry of Finance submits the portfolio appropriation estimates, based on the strategic business plans, to the Cabinet by September 15th; Cabinet submits to the Parliament the budget proposal by October 1st. Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: Peer Reviewer TWO Comment:	c

69. Does the executive adhere to its timetable for the preparation and release of the budget? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> The executive adheres to the dates in its timetable. The executive adheres to most of the key dates in its timetable. The executive has difficulty adhering to most of the dates in its timetable. The executive does not adhere to the dates in its timetable, or it does not release to the public its timetable. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation and/or comment: Some dates relating to the release of the Budget and Pre-Budget Statement are set into law and the executive has mostly adhered to these dates. For example, the Pre-Budget Report for 2006 was submitted to the legislature 10 days later than the date stated in the law, which is May 1st. Similarly, the Budget Proposal for 2005 was submitted late due to elections that resulted in a split of power and subsequent delay in establishing a coalition government. Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: Peer Reviewer TWO Comment:	b

Yes, the executive holds consultations with a range of legislators, but some key members are excluded. Yes, the executive holds very limited consultations, involving only a few members of the legislature. No, the executive does not typically consult with members of the legislature as part of the budget preparation process. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation and/or comment: The question was marked “a” because the new government is constituted from a grand coalition consisting of representatives of two major parties. This has ensured that the budget preparation process is open to the legislature, as both parties have appointees in the Ministry of Finance. Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: The grand coalition fell apart in January 2006. Therefore, with respect to the 2007 Budget, the answer to this question may change; however, it is correct with regard to the time period specified. Peer Reviewer TWO Comment:	a

72. When does the executive release a pre-budget statement to the public?

- a. The executive releases a pre-budget statement at least four months in advance of the start of the budget year.
- b. The executive releases a pre-budget statement at least two months (but less than four months) in advance of the start of the budget year.
- c. The executive releases a pre-budget statement, but it is released less than two months before the start of the budget year.
- d. The executive does not release a pre-budget statement.
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation and/or comment:

The researcher's response to this question was "a": The executive does release the Pre-Budget Statement to the public, but only on request. In 2005, the Pre-Budget Statement was available at: www.forum.mn. The legislature releases the Pre-Budget Statement after reviewing and approving the executive's Budget Proposal. See the: Law on Public Sector Management and Financing, available at www.parl.gov.mn.

Researcher Response to Peer Reviewer: The Pre- Budget Statement for 2005 was available to any member of the public on request (electronically by email, as well as in limited numbers in print). We in fact requested and got (both in print and electronically) the full version of the executive's Statement, and posted it on our website.

Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: The Fiscal Framework Statement is submitted to parliament by May 1 (PSMFL, Article 25). The PSMFL does not specify whether it is to be made public; but documents submitted to the legislature usually are accessible on request. Given the unclear legal situation, actual practice appears to vary depending on the government of the day.

Peer Reviewer TWO Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer "a" to maintain consistency with the guidance provided to researchers for correctly completing the questionnaire in the IBP Guide to the Open Budget Questionnaire.

73. Does the pre-budget statement describe the government’s macroeconomic and fiscal framework?

- a. Yes, an extensive explanation of the government’s fiscal and macroeconomic policy is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
- b. Yes, an explanation is presented, highlighting key aspects of the fiscal and macroeconomic framework, but some details are excluded.
- c. Yes, some explanation is presented, but it lacks important details.
- d. No, an explanation is not presented, or the executive does not release to the public a pre-budget statement.
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: No Pre-Budget Statement is available from the MinFin’s (Ministry of Finance) website. A fiscal framework statement is to be submitted to parliament by May 1 according to the PSMFL, so one would expect the document to be available to the public on request. However, I cannot fully judge whether such a statement would be routinely available to Mongolian citizens.

Citation and/or comment:

The researcher's response to this question was "a": Supplemental budgets are approved before the funds are expended.

Researcher Response to Peer Reviewer: The Law on General Budget in several places implicitly gives authority to spend only approved budget to the government. For instance, Article 5.1 on the definition of budget governors says "administering and spending budget funds approved by the parliament and respective local councils"; 6.1.9 on the functions of the Ministry of Finance "to allocate the approved budgets to state budget organizations" etc. In practice, based on the interview of relevant Ministry of Finance authorities, the non-approved budget spending is not allowed and is considered illegal.

Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: The PSMFL does not contain clear regulation in this regard. Article 9.1 authorizes the Ministry of Finance to prepare "the Government's proposal on supplementary State Budget, and be responsible for the accuracy of information and calculations;" the law makes no reference to the role of parliament in this regard; however, the logic of Mongolia's NPM inspired system centers control around outputs and outcomes, rather than ex-ante forms of control.

Peer Reviewer TWO Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer "a" to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.

Citation and/or comment:

The researcher's response to this question was "d": If the legislators want to learn about secret programs, they sign the confidentiality letter and can request any information on secret programs and national security.

Researcher Response to Peer Reviewer: The Law on State Audit, Provision 15.1.6, provides the authority to carry out budget spending audit but states: 'the auditor authorized by General Auditor and Legislature.' However, in practice, it is unclear if such audit was ever done, and some private interviews suggest that such audits have not been done, and would be done in only special occasions. The legislature committees would be presented only with aggregate data. Individual members of legislature can get information after signing confidentiality agreement, but it is unclear how detailed information they can get, my understanding is that only aggregate information will be presented.

Peer Reviewer ONE Comment: The 2003 Law on National Audit stipulates: " 15.1.6 Audits of disbursement of budget funds allocated for the intelligence agency, armed forces and police department shall be conducted by the Auditor General of Mongolia and an auditor authorized by the State Great Hural;" A more appropriate response would therefore appear to be "b" or "c" (based on an interview with the NAO on actual practice).
